

What are the questions that you should ask yourself right now about your business?

During uncertain times, you should always trust your team! It's really important that we work together to make sure that your business is protected properly while business norms have changed.

Are you creating something that your business didn't previously manufacture?

Is your business closed and therefore vacant and/or unoccupied?

Are your tenants removed from your rental property, therefore making it vacant and/or unoccupied?

Are some or all of your team members working from home?

Is your business now offering delivery when you weren't previously?

Do you have any vehicles now not in use?

If you've answered yes to any of these or have any other questions – reach out and let's chat.
